

LET the man who owns a Palm Beach Suit beware. He's going to find it easy this summer to sacrifice smartness to comfort. Yet not necessarily. For a Palm Beach Suit is friendly toward careful laundering, and needs only occasionally to renew acquaintance with soaps and irons to join dressiness to comfort.

Don't let the first continued heated spell catch you and your Palm Beach Suit napping.

The committee, however, decided not to order the closing of the churches, which was discussed at a meeting held this afternoon.

WOULD HAVE U. S. BUY NEW YORK AVENUE LAND

Senator Works Proposes Acquiring Property for Erection of State and Federal Buildings.

Calling for the purchase by the government of thirty-five squares and parts of squares on both sides of New York avenue from Fifteenth street to Massachusetts avenue, and on both sides of that thoroughfare and New Jersey avenue to the Capitol, a bill was introduced in the Senate yesterday by Senator Works, of California, which contemplates a long string of handsome government and State buildings in Washington.

The bill also provides for the acquisition of additional ground on the water front, to be used for public buildings, lying between B and C streets and on both sides of the United States Naval Museum of Hygiene, from Eighteenth to Twenty-seventh street.

In offering his bill, Senator Works said in part: "It may be remembered that I have heretofore urged upon the Senate the wisdom and propriety of acquiring the property along Pennsylvania avenue upon which to construct all government buildings. I believe that sooner or later this will be done. The bill that I am now offering is intended to authorize the acquisition of certain property in the city of Washington to be used by the States in the construction of State buildings to exhibit their products and resources, and to be made the headquarters of each and all of the States in the National Capital."

WILSON SEEKING COMMITTEE HEAD

President Unable to Decide on Choice of 1916 Campaign Manager.

President Wilson has given a great deal of consideration in the past week to plans for the forthcoming national campaign. The chief problem before him now is the selection of the chairman of the Democratic national committee to manage the campaign. Thus far, the President has been unable to make up his mind as to the most desirable man for the place, or at least, he has not announced the name of the man he is likely to choose.

Frank B. Lynch, of Minnesota, chairman of the executive committee of the Democratic national committee, who has had charge of the pre-convention political activities of the Wilson organization, will not lead the fight for the President's reelection in the capacity of campaign chairman. At the same time, the President has the highest regard for the national committeeman from Minnesota and he intends to have recourse frequently to the latter's advice during the campaign.

Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo has been expected by some of the President's friends to reassume his role as campaigner. Mr. McAdoo is said to have dismissed this suggestion without serious thought, because of the realization that his connection with the President's family as son-in-law would have a bad effect.

Postmaster General Burleson and Private Secretary Tumulty, the two administration officials who influence the President most, are being discussed for the national chairmanship. It is almost certain that one of these will be chosen if the President decides to ask a member of his official family to head the campaign.

organization. Stories have been afloat that the President had considered Solicitor General John W. Davis for the national chairmanship. Despite the currency of this report, there is an inclination to discredit it.

The President has decided upon Senator Ollie James, of Kentucky, for the permanent chairmanship of the St. Louis national convention. Senator James has been one of the President's spokesmen on the floor of the Senate and the President has great confidence in his judgment and loyalty. Speaker Clark was sounded out by the President's friends several days ago as to whether he would take the permanent chairmanship of the convention. The Speaker decided against it.

CONFEDERATE SERVICES AT ARLINGTON TODAY

The Southern Cross will be unveiled by Miss Fannie Wilson, sponsor; Miss Margaret Terrett, assistant sponsor; Mrs. George Bennett Ashby, matron of honor, and Mrs. Maud Howell Smith, matron representing the U. D. C. The Marine Band will play.

Capt. John M. Hickey is chairman of the committee arranging for the services. Other members are Capt. Fred Beall, R. S. Denny, Mrs. Jane Covington, Mrs. Elizabeth C. Fred, Mrs. John Callaghan, W. E. Brockman, John T. Callaghan, J. P. Altier, W. L. Wilkerson, M. B. Richmond, W. J. Parr, F. R. Pravel and J. R. Price.

U. S. WILL RESORT TO MOVIES TO GET RECRUITS

Reels Showing Soldier at Work to Be Used in Raising 73,000 Men Ordered by Congress.

President Wilson signed the new army bill, increasing its peace strength from 102,000 to 175,000 enlisted men of the line, and providing for its expansion in time of war to 250,000. The new law, which is the first of the big preparedness measures to go on the statute books, will become effective July 1.

By the time the new law becomes effective the General Staff expects to have in operation all the machinery necessary for expanding the army to the new limits. The bill will create immediate vacancies for 1,500 additional second lieutenants.

The 72,000 additional enlisted men, exclusive of the enlisted personnel of the hospital corps, quartermaster corps, signal corps and Philippine scouts, are to be raised in five annual increments of 14,000 men each. After the force is fully raised it will be necessary annually to recruit between 20,000 and 70,000 men to fill vacancies occurring by reason of expiring enlistments, disability discharges, deaths and desertions.

Efforts are also being made to enlist men by use of moving picture displays of soldiers at work, although it is stated that the prospect of success in that direction is still uncertain.

"We shall try," said General McCall, "to adopt the British practice of approaching men individually."

Tillman Bill Passes. The Senate yesterday took from the calendar and passed the Tillman bill which makes liable to ten-years' imprisonment any government contractor, who manufacturing supplies for the army and navy, shall divulge confidential information affecting the national defense.

COMPASS CLUB HOLDS ANNUAL GET-TOGETHER

Other Masons among the entertainers were introduced by L. H. Troutman, president of the advisory board of District Masonic clubs. Comedy readings were given by I. I. Meyrowitz, M. E. Kahn, of the Players' Club, and O. E. Werner, Anthony L. Dennison sang.

The roller jewel of a watch each day makes 52,000 impacts against the fork, or 157,880,000 in a year, or 3,153,000,000 in twenty years. A force of one-horse power would run 270,000,000 watches.

COMPARES "JEFF" DAVIS TO PRESIDENT WILSON

Declaring that the time will come when the people of the United States will give Jefferson Davis his just fame, and when a monument, the last link between the Union and the Confederacy, will be erected in his honor here in the Capital, Representative B. P. Harrison, of Mississippi, delivered the anniversary address at the celebration of the 108th birthday anniversary of the Confederate leader at Mount Vernon M. E. Church last night.

The celebration was under auspices of the District branch, United Daughters of the Confederacy.

"Just as Woodrow Wilson," said Mr. Harrison, "is beset with cares of state, and criticized by some members, even of his own party, so was President Davis."

Mrs. Maude Howell Smith, president of the District branch, presided. Mrs. Cordelia Powell Odenheimer, president general of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, was the guest of honor. An invocation was delivered by the Rev. Randolph McKim, of the Church of the Epiphany. Rev. E. K. Hardin, pastor of the church, gave the benediction.
